

Dr. Campos presents paper at FishAdapt

College of Business Administration and Accountancy Guest Professorial Lecturer Dr. Maria Rebecca Campos presented her paper “Adaptation of Fishermen in the Philippines to Climate Change” at the Global Conference on Climate Change Adaptation for Fisheries and Aquaculture (FishAdapt) held at Centara Grand Ladprao, Bangkok, Thailand on August 8-10.

As speaker, Dr. Campos was funded by the United Nations’ Food and Agriculture Organization headquarters in Rome, Italy. Her paper, drawn from her research project financed by the Quedan Rural Credit and Guarantee Corporation (QUEDANCOR), was implemented through the Southeast Asian Regional Center for Graduate Studies and Research in Agriculture.

The results of the study have been used in aid of a legislation for a bridge financing scheme to enable the fisher-creditors of QUEDANCOR to carry on their livelihood activities and slowly recover from their losses due to the impact of climate change. Said legislation has already been approved by Congress and is now waiting approval by the Senate. Represented by 230 participants from 34 countries, the Conference is organized by the Network of Aquaculture Centers in Asia-Pacific.

Clores speaks at the Nat’l Sikolohiyang Pilipino Primer

Department of Psychology faculty Ricardo Clores was one of three speakers in the annual Sikolohiyang Pilipino Primer 2016 held September 24 at Kalinangan Gymnasium, La Consolacion University Philippines, Malolos, Bulacan.

Anchored on the convention’s theme “Milenyang: Ang Sikolohiyang Pilipino sa Pagbabago ng Panahon,” Clores’ lecture was “Banyuhay: Tungkol sa Sikolohiyang Pilipino at mga Pagbabagong Dulot Nito,” which focused on the world views of what Sikolohiyang Pilipino has contributed to the field of Psychology and to the country’s psychology in particular. Clores also engaged the audience to critically examine, through the lens of Sikolohiyang Pilipino, current social issues such as the burial of former President Marcos at the Libingan ng mga Bayani and extrajudicial killings brought on by the government’s war on illegal drugs. The two other speakers with Clores were University of the Philippines Professors Jay Yacat and Apryl Mae Parcon who lectured on “Konseptong Milenyang” and “Pokemon Go at Mga Apps ng mga Milenyang” respectively.

SP Primer 2016 was sponsored by Tatsulok, an alliance of Psychology student organizations pushing for the continuing relevance and use of Filipino Psychology. More than a thousand students from 35 universities across the country attended the convention.

DLSU-D and feeder school officials

attend PCAPI's seminar

Administrators under DLSU-D's Finance and Administrative Services (FAS) together with selected operations personnel of DLSU-D's feeder schools attended the Seminar on Basic Pollution Control for School Administrators held September 23 at DLSU-D's Alumni Building.

The seminar was part of the community service program of the Pollution Control Association of the Philippines (PCAPI), of which DLSU-D's Pollution Control Officer Joseph Dinglasan is national president.

The seminar aimed to increase awareness of school personnel on managing school's pollution in adherence to various national laws and regulations. Topics discussed in the seminar were: Sources of Pollution from School Operations (with speaker Engr. Lowell Lee of DLS-HSI); National Laws pertaining to Pollution Control (with Dr. Arnold Fonollera, faculty, Biological Sciences Department); Developing Sustainable Schools (Prof. Marlon Pareja, director of DLSU-D's Environmental Resource Management Center); Toxicological Aspects of Laboratory Operations (Prof. Gideon Legaspi, DLSU-D's Laboratory Supervisor with College of Science and Computer Studies);

Disposal of E-waste (Prof. Geraldine Zamora, Chair of Physical Sciences Department) and Green Procurement (Prof. Joseph Cabanglan, faculty, Business Management Department). A total of 51 participants attended with 13 coming from DLSU-D's feeder schools namely Rogationist College, St. Francis Academy, Elizabeth Seton, Academy of St. John, Asian Trinity School and Immaculate Conception Academy.

The program was organized by DLSU-D's Environmental Resources Management Center (ERMaC) acting as secretariat.

DLSU-D's Assistant Vice Chancellor for Research Dr. Willington Onuh hands over to Edmon Sison, executive director of Uplift Philippines Inc. a copy of the research study "Supporting expansion of Uplift's microfinance services to reduce poverty for the Filipino urban poor" conducted by a team of students in the TransGlobal MBA Graduate School of St. Mary's College of California. The study, aimed at helping Uplift Philippines in expanding their client base, had Onuh acting as the research team's local supervisor in project writing.
