

Spend Safely While Learning from home

Just because you're attending classes online does not mean that you cannot be smart with money. You can actually use this opportunity to save on your allowances because you don't have to commute, spend on food and be tempted by other expenses.

Still, spending cannot be avoided, and in the absence of social activities, many people have turned to online platforms as an alternative.

Here are a few tips to spend your money wisely.

Outline needs vs wants

Prioritize the things you need over the things you want.

Create a budget.

Assign a budget for savings and spending so you can keep track of your monthly expenses.

Shop smart

Check several merchants before deciding on buying a particular item online. Read reviews so you won't regret your purchase.

Stop impulse buying

There's nothing stopping you from adding the things you want on your cart, let it sit there for a while and weigh whether its worth it before proceeding to payment. Plenty of times, you realize that these items are quite unnecessary.
